In September 2012 I decided to enroll myself at the University of Florence to pursue my true passion; computer science and cybersecurity. I graduated in October 2018 with 110/110 cum laude at the master's degree in resilient and secure cyber physical systems. My master thesis was on "Side-Channel Attacks and speculative execution". Before, I obtained the bachelor degree in computer science in 2015 with 110/110 cum laude. Before, I graduated from high school in 2004 at IPSIA Margaritone of Arezzo, a professional school for goldsmiths that I attended in parallel to four years of conservatoire (piano). I worked for eight years in the processing of raw materials (gold, silver, steel, wood, plexiglass and fabrics) with CNC machines such as laser cutting, wire EDM and machining center.
